Betting activities related to sports, crypto, Stocks, forex... will operate in the following manner:

- Maker enters the specified information along with the amount of money or any crypto asset of equivalent value on the order side.

Lending and borrowing

The use and profits obtained from loan capital and quick liquidity help bring many benefits to users. You will only need to pay 1% per profit or loan fee that you participate in whether you are a lender or a borrower.

Loan interest rates will be automatically adjusted on the system depending on market fluctuations and needs. After each completed transaction, the deposit from Party A (the lender) will be returned in full, both principal and interest, and this amount will be automatically returned to that user's wallet.

Why do we choose to burn tokens in some cases instead of directly distributing fees?

The fee distribution method is optimal, directly reduces the available supply and increases the value of the remaining tokens.

The Gbeex token is a long-term deflationary token. While issuance is limited and keeps decreasing, token burn is permanent and keeps increasing day by day.

Burning is conducted weekly to maximize deflationary weeks.
100% of the money transferred to the burning fund will be burned.
